Abstrakt:

The article is devoted to the assessment of modern youth of their social qualities. Based on the analysis of empirical data, the authors conclude that the social portrait of today's youth has distinctly contradictory features. Representatives of the younger generation adequately and objectively assess their positive and negative qualities.

Keywords: Youth, state policy, healthy generation, state structures, humanism, education, traditions.

Young people should not be treated with condescension. It is very possible that, having matured, they will become outstanding husbands. Only one who has achieved nothing by reaching the age of forty or fifty does not deserve respect.
Confucius.

From the historical development of any country, it is known that the rapid development of the country, the achievement of certain achievements, the well-being of the people is closely related to the level of attention paid to education and the future of youth in the country.

Since we repeat the words that youth is the future and the backbone of Uzbekistan, the future of our country is in the hands of our youth. Hence it should be understood that young people largely determine not only the present, but also the future of the country.

Because the smarter and stronger our youth is, the stronger our country will be in the future. Therefore, the duty of every society is to educate young people who love their country, humane and intelligent. In this sense, the problem of youth in Uzbekistan is one of the highest priority areas of state policy. Today in our country, in order to create conditions for young people to grow in all aspects and learn along with the latest technologies. In the world, large-scale reforms are being carried out in all spheres and in society, work on solving urgent problems is being carried out at a rapid pace. At present, in order to improve work with youth, various state structures have been created aimed at involving young people in social activities.

At the same time, certain measures are being taken in our country to educate young people in the spirit of patriotism, respect for our national traditions and values, educate a spiritually mature and physically healthy generation, and protect their rights and interests. Because the upbringing of our youth in a high spiritual and moral spirit, the formation of a sense of spiritual courage in them is an important factor in protecting them from various ideological and spiritual threats. Youth is the engine of innovation, the continuous development of social and civic life. The future of our people and our country, representatives of the future generation born in the era of globalization and digitalization, directly depends on them.

Therefore, we will create a reliable and stable future for ourselves by honestly working with young people, who are the strategic and human resource of our country, educating them correctly and directing them on the right path. Today's young people are able to modernize their energy and direct it to areas that are spiritually closer to them. In the history of all times and peoples, youth has always played a key role, and this is no coincidence, because youth is characterized by the most active qualities - a thirst for justice, courage, honor.

There are a lot of young people in our country who, not forgetting that the bright future of the country is in their hands, are constantly moving forward with their talents. They are involved in all spheres of our country; all conditions have been created for their education and comprehensive development. If young people study well and acquire deep knowledge, and if they use this knowledge for the development of our country, then they will make a great contribution to themselves and to the future and development of our country. All these efforts will surely bear fruit in the future. From this it follows that the main task of our youth is in constant search, in spiritually mature personalities, in self-improvement, because in the future the fate of the country will be determined by today's children.

Therefore, today's youth of our country is being formed as a unique powerful force, and at the same time, young people are showing themselves as real creators, sources of inspiration, important participants and creators of economic, social, cultural, political and spiritual life. At the heart of the attention paid to young people in our country is the realization of their dreams, honor and dignity, a worthy future and all the conditions created for them to become the masters of our tomorrow. All our young people have always been in the center of attention of our country's politics. After all, Uzbekistan is a country of young people, they are responsible for the future prosperity of our country, because every country need educated and hardworking young people. We believe that our youth will justify the hopes of our people, because as long as there are many of our brave and courageous youth, our country will be strong, powerful and great.
