Introduction

Language is our primary source of communication. It is the method through which we share our ideas and thoughts with others. There are thousands of languages in the world. Every country has their own national language in addition to a variety of local languages spoken and understood by their people in different regions. Some languages are spoken by millions of people and others by only a few thousand. In the global world the importance of English cannot be denied and ignored since English is the most common language spoken everywhere.

We know that English is the most commonly spoken language in the world. British Council (2013) argued that the spread of English provided unlimited access to many fields such as intercultural understanding as well as entertainment, in addition to science, ICT, and economic. The trend and the dynamic force in the global age have affected English as Second Language (ESL) or as a Foreign Language (EFL) spread worldwide. There has been a great demand in English instruction that results in competent English users both in Western and

Asian countries. The popularity of English as the most widely used language around the world has spread across various non-English speaking countries, in particular Asian countries and “becomes the key language in Asia” (Rintaningrum, 2016). English has successfully placed its position as a language in multicultural and communication as a language in international business communication and as a language in the international language of research. From that we know that it's so important to learn English nowadays. English is also necessary for the field of education. In many countries, children are taught and encouraged to learn English as a second language. Even in countries where it is not an official language. We will find many curriculums in science, engineering education filed are written in English. Because it is the dominant language in the sciences, most of the research and studies you find in any given scientific field will be written in it as well. At the university level, students in many countries study almost all their subjects in English in order to make the material more accessible to international students. English remains a major medium of instruction in schools, universities. There are large numbers of books that are written in the English language. English literature is vast and rich. Many of the latest scientific discoveries are documented in English. Many people in the world want to speak English fluently without considering that they have to master other skills of English as well (Rintaningrum, 2018). So, strategies in learning to speak English are one of the important factors to be recognized by students and it is also a part of speaking skill (Noviyenty, 2018). These strategies should be developed in order to improve the students' ability in speaking English. The students should be able to recognize their weaknesses and their strength in choosing the suitable strategies for themselves. Each student is possible to have different strategy one to another. The strategies used by the students in learning to speak English will determine their ability in using English to communicate. Students who use effective strategies which make them comfortable in using English to communicate will be able to solve many problems in speaking English.

In addition, you can also studying on your own using different tools like books, magazines, comics, English songs, videos and movies; TV shows, news, the internet, social networks where you can interact with other English speakers. You can even move to or spend some time in an English-speaking country. So you can also practise the English every day. You can practise the 4 core skills, it's reading, writing, speaking and listening. They all need to be worked on for you to improve. You can also go to the English courses to learn English from the teacher.
