Humanity came into being using words and speech, forming different ways of conveying and receiving thoughts within its capabilities. In the era of advanced times, rapid development of people's worldview, and rapid development of technologies, the role of the art of public speaking is incomparable. Public speaking has been revered since ancient times as a unique skill and art. Speech is a special and unique human ability. The art of public speaking is an art form formed in a short period of time. Oratory is distinguished by the use of various indicators or forms of exchange, images, sculptures or installations, calls to action.

It is known that in the art of public speaking, the goal of attracting the audience and the public is in the first place. "A speech is first of all a beautiful speech. But it is not enough to have a beautiful speech, you can also speak any nonsense nonsense very beautifully (Sadigova M., Jo'rayev J. With words there is a difference in the word.) the art of public speaking is the art of oral speech. It is distinguished from other types of art by its name.

Public speaking is the art of persuasion. The purpose of public speaking is for the speaker to present his position and defend his point of view in front of an opponent or audience. He achieves this goal with the help of prepared speeches and public speaking techniques.

Speaking about the history of the art of oratory, it was developed in ancient Rome and Athens. In ancient times, the prestige of statesmen and their rise to a high position were connected with their oratory. The art of public speaking is equally valued as the art of leadership.

The achievement of our development is the fact that people of different professions work in harmony and are closely related to each other in our society. Therefore, the art of public speaking is divided into several types. These are:

- Socio-political speech
- Academic speech
- Audience speaking
- Social and domestic speech
- Industry public discourse
- Speech of TV and radio journalists

The lecture on the political-social and political-economic topic is to highlight specific information on this topic, to inform the audience about them, to teach them to think broadly in the political-social and political-economic spheres. There are also several types of socio-political speech:

- Speech on political-social and political-economic topics.
- Session, conference speech
- Diplomatic speech
- Political commentary
- Military patriotic speech
- Rally speech
- Scientific-popular speech.

Academic speaking is characterized by its scientificity and high demand. The most important feature of academic speaking is based on the strength of scientific evidence and solving the essence of its specific branch of science. Types of academic speaking are as follows:

- Lectures of educational institutions
- Scientific lecture
- Scientific information

Audience speaking includes lectures for students of universities, institutes, colleges, lyceums and schools.

Socio-domestic public speaking includes short and succinct speeches or speeches delivered at various events and gatherings, anniversary celebrations. There are the following types of social and household speech:

- Anthem (anniversary or praise)
- Condolence (mourning) speech
- Welcome speech

Good structure and management of the industry, development of the industry and its effectiveness, customer interest and satisfaction, commercial expansion, good service delivery and management, regular study and application of marketing strategies, and analysis based on a number of other indicators. depends on doing. The field of speech can be different and several types can be shown as follows:

- Text oratory
- Picture speech
- Video speech
- Voice speech

Broadcast journalists cover all types of news, including speech, television and radio. They do their job by displaying news, articles, reports, communications and other information.

The art of public speaking is unique. It combines image, painting, kinetic elements and short video segments using characteristics such as stasis, movement and strangeness. These types of works show the viewer a sense of movement and show the unique aspects of eloquence, although it gives the viewer power and movement through his gaze and reflection.

The main feature of speech art is that it differs from static art types and shows the viewer a sense of movement. This type of work uses kinetic elements to give the audience a dynamic and moving experience. Remote displays, linear images, animations and kinetic installations are specific forms of speech art presentation.

Public speaking also uses animations. Animations represent movement through images and elements and give viewers a dynamic experience.

The art of public speaking increases the manual of thought and shows the listeners in which forms of action and energy can be expressed. This, in turn, develops a person's reasoning ability.

- "Today, it is difficult to understand and justify an expert who is completely independent, who cannot express his opinion fluently, beautifully and clearly in his native language, and above all, those who sit in the leadership chair."

Islom Karimov.

What they mean by this is that they express their opinion independently, based on personal thinking and feelings. It plays an important role in the development of a person in the process of achieving results. It is related to the beautiful presentation and expression of one's opinion in one's native language, that is, in one's own language. It is necessary to attract the attention of others in the beautiful delivery of the idea. A person expresses his thoughts, impressions and thoughts in an independent and original way, and demands understanding based on the results of the time studied so far.

There are several famous speakers in Uzbekistan. They introduce us to issues in various fields, news, articles and instructions.

As a result of the analysis of various researches and studies carried out by specialists of the "Speech Academy" training center for a year, skilled orators who effectively use the unique elegance and rich possibilities of our native language with creative communication methods won 16 prizes. nominations. Jamila Shermuhamedova, a woman loved by our people, is one of them.

Doctor of Philosophy, Professor Jamila Shermuhammedova was awarded for her "extraordinary activity in carrying out socio-spiritual propaganda in a simple and popular language to wide sections of the population."

Consultant of the Republican Spirituality and Enlightenment Center, member of the "Marifat" society of propagandists, member of the Expert Commission under the Presidential Administration, expert of the Republican Family and Women's Committee, "Zulfiya" State Award Commission member, member of the Women's Committee, the Council under the Senate has been working as an honorary member of the public.

As a permanent speaker of the "Kizlarjon" and "Girls' Voice" circles under the Republican Youth Union, he conducts spiritual and educational seminars and trainings for young men and women.

Jamila Shermammedova gave a lot of advice about women. He beautifully described the role of a woman in life.

A woman should be a healer in every way. Whatever the problem, there must be a way out of it, a cure for every ailment.

Every family has its own rules. In order for the family to be in peaceful harmony, and for their children to be knowledgeable, educated, and educated, parents should work. Everyone should treat their children the same and not separate them into boys and girls. He should be able to guide children based on their interests. It is the duty of every parent to their child to guide them towards their profession, to create opportunities for them.

The human mind, like a magnet, does what it thinks. If he thinks some bad idea in his mind and believes it, it will happen no matter what he does, no matter what he does.

Everyone should have a man who appreciates your work and understands you. You should have someone who will support you in every way.

Don't tell a woman why she should study. A woman should study because she will be responsible for raising her children tomorrow so that they can find their place in the future. A woman should at least have a craft. He has to keep the family together. She should be her husband's helper

We have many shortcomings in this world. How we fix them is up to us. It depends on our enlightenment, our mind.

All these above opinions belong to Professor Jamila Shermammedova, PhD in Philosophy. By listening to them, you will correct your shortcomings. You start looking at life with different eyes. You will learn to use the opportunities of this life. You will easily overcome any difficulties.
